

Gathering at the Community Table presents:

An Archeologist's Menu:

Discovering Colonial Chesapeake Diets

with James G. Gibb, Ph.D.

Research Associate, Smithsonian Environmental Research Center

PLEASE JOIN US!

Friday, April 26, 2019

6:30 PM Student Poster Display in Lobby

7:00 PM Lecture

JAMES F. LACALLE CONFERENCE ROOM
E132-Edgewood Hall, Harford Community College
401 Thomas Run Road, Bel Air, MD 21015

How did Europeans and Africans colonizing the Chesapeake Bay region feed themselves? And how did their food choices affect the ecosystems of today? Join archaeologist Jim Gibb for an informative lecture on the archeology of the colonial diet, focusing on meat provisioning from his analysis of materials excavated at several sites in Maryland.

This event is in conjunction with Maryland Archeology Month. Supporting sponsors are the Harford Community College Foundation and the Archeological Society of the Northern Chesapeake.

HARFORD
COMMUNITY COLLEGE FOUNDATION INC.

Dates and times are subject to change.
For the most up-to-date information, visit www.harford.edu/gather.

HARFORD
COMMUNITY COLLEGE

harford.edu